From the General Manager:

Good morning!

Spring has arrived. Now it's time for continued melt, dry out, and then Mike and the crew to prepare the golf course for play! We were hoping for a mid April opening, but even that may be a bit optimistic based on the amount of snow still on the course.

In the meantime, get your swing going - it won't be long!

From the Golf Course Superintendent:

Last week I mentioned that the possibility of the Cameron greens fully clearing was good. Well the weather cooperated and other than #7 they have cleared!

They look good! A couple of spots here and there where ice formed and water puddled are a little off color but, nothing is significant.

This week with our borrowed snow blower I will start creating access to the river bottom and upper bench. This will give us an opportunity to start monitoring river levels more easily. As of Friday the river was still frozen over.

Pray for a slow melt in the hills!

Thanks,

Mike
